IN ACTION WITH DESTROYERS
1939–1945
The Wartime Memoirs of Commander J A J Dennis DSC RN
Edited by Alec Dennis & Anthony J. Cummings
Feb 2018 208pp
9781628714955 Hardback
£30.50 / €35.00

A superbly written and exciting eye-witness account of the war at sea from 1939 to 1945. There can have been few, if any, naval officers who saw so much action as Alex Dennis, who served in four destroyers. Dennis recorded his remarkable experience with a light and irreverent touch and, as a result, his memoir is not just a brilliant account of one man’s war at sea but a rattling good read.

LIBERTY’S WAR
An Engineer’s Memoir of the Merchant Marine, 1942–1945
Herman E. Melton & Will Melton
2017 256pp
9781591146407 Paperback
£21.95 / €25.00

In the dark days of World War II, merchant mariners made heroic contributions to the eventual Allied victory and suffered tremendous casualties. Among these were the engineers who toiled in the bowels of the ship. Liberty’s War explores the experiences of one such engineer, Herman Melton. He is representative of the thousands of engineers who served on board Liberty ships during the war.

PROGRESSIVES IN NAVY BLUE
Maritime Strategy, American Empire, and the Transformation of U.S. Naval Identity, 1873-1898
Scott Mobley
May 2018 432pp
9781682471937 Hardback
£30.50 / €35.00

Examines how intellectual and institutional developments transformed the US Navy from 1873 to 1898. These dates bracket a dynamic quarter-century during which Americans witnessed their navy transform from a modest imperial constabulary into an imperial navy, capable of projecting power across the globe. These developments, far beyond the reach of the law, brought the United States into the ranks of maritime powers.

AIRPOWER APPLIED
U.S., NATO, and Israeli Combat Experience
Edited by John Andreas Olsen
2017 416pp
9781682470756 Hardback £44.50 / €50.00
Tells the story of the evolution of airpower and its impact upon the history of warfare. Through a critical examination of twenty-nine case studies in which the United States in various coalitions and Israel played significant roles, the book offers perspectives on the political purpose, strategic meaning, and military importance of airpower.

The US has the most expensive and seemingly military forces in the world. Yet, since World War II its military success rate has been fairly meagre. Failures have been marked by the introduction of large numbers of conventional American ground troops, while successes have been characterised by the use of airpower, special operations forces, robust intelligence, and the use of indigenous ground troops.

T.X. Hammes
May 2018 320pp, 6 images, 8 graphs
9781682472910 Hardcover £25.50 / €29.00
Advances the argument that the emerging fourth industrial revolution is reversing globalization. This book contends that while social, and political factors are contributing to the slowdown in international trade, the driving factor is profit. The convergence of new technologies is changing how and where we create wealth. Simply, business will make more money by producing and selling locally.

Brent Dulak, Kevin Knodell & David Axe

Sep 2018 160pp

9781682472305 Paperback £16.50 / €19.00

Brent Dulak doesn’t want to go to Afghanistan. Haunted by the memories of his two tours in Iraq and burnt out on soldiering, he wants nothing more than to drink to self-destructive excess and have meaningless sex. Brutally honest and darkly funny, Machete Squad is the story of a soldier trying to keep people alive as America’s longest war rages all around him.

TRENCH DOGS

Ian Densford

Sep 2018 184pp

9781682473245 Paperback £16.50 / €19.00

Inspired by assorted first-hand accounts, this fictional story of World War I is a sweeping look across the war and the soldiers who experienced the horrors of the front lines and high seas. The nightmares of World War I and the fallout afterwards are often overlooked. This book asks the reader to look again and remember the dead, to weigh their number against those that would choose war.
