Abraham Washington Attell (1883-1970) was among the cleverest, most scientific professional boxers ever to enter the ring. The native San Franciscan fought 172 times in his career-scoring 127 wins, 51 by knockout—and successfully defended his World Featherweight Champion title 18 times between 1906 and 1912, defeating challengers who included Johnny Kilbane and Battling Nelson. This is the first ever biography to cover Attell’s life and career.

On Love, Vocation, and Formation
Pope Emeritus Benedict XVI
Edited by Pietro Rossotti

May 2017 272pp 9780813229249 Paperback £26.95 / €31.00

This edited collection is the first to gather in one volume the most relevant addresses, speeches, and homilies of His Holiness, Pope Emeritus Benedict XVI to seminarians and consecrated men and women into a single volume for the English-speaking world.

Called to Holiness is divided into three sections. The first section focuses on the mystery of vocation. The second section collects Benedict’s writings around the crucial experience of Love. Finally, the third section offers Benedict’s description of what a seminary should look like.

Pope Benedict XVI’s words remind us of the fundamental meaning of a life of total consecration to God in a time of history where God is very much rejected. Moreover, in times where young people seek words of wisdom and certainty, Benedict XVI’s words give a fundamental aid to such direction not only for people already pondering a vocation to consecration but for all men and women open to God’s voice.

FOR THE SAKE OF ARGUMENT
How to Do Philosophy
Robert M. Martin

Nov 2016 150pp 9781554813377 Paperback £13.50 / €15.00

Academic philosophy can be puzzling to newcomers. The conventions, terms, and expectations entrenched among philosophers aren’t always clear from the outside. Why are philosophers so preoccupied with finding “the truth” – doesn’t everyone have their own philosophy? Is philosophy so deep and difficult that its literature has to be incomprehensible? What kinds of arguments can there be for a philosophical position? Where does the evidence come from? Why is there so much jargon—wouldn’t it be better to do away with it altogether? What exactly is a “thought experiment”, and how should one be conducted?

Bestselling author and retired philosophy professor Robert Martin answers these questions and many more, offering a practical guide to arguing and writing philosophically. Anecdotes, jokes, asides, digressions, oddments, and entertainments are included throughout, providing for an informal and opinionated introduction that doesn’t shy away from the nuts and bolts of philosophical argument. A useful glossary of common philosophical terminology and a guide to Chicago Style citation are included.
In the increasingly popular sport of parkour, athletes run, jump, climb, flip, and vault through city streetscapes, resembling urban gymnasts to passersby and awestruck spectators. In Parkour and the City, cultural sociologist Jeffrey L. Kidder examines the ways in which this sport involves a creative appropriation of urban spaces as well as a method of everyday risk-taking by a youth culture that valorizes individuals who successfully manage danger.

Parkour’s modern development has been tied closely to the growth of the internet. The sport is inevitably a YouTube phenomenon, making it exemplary of new forms of globalized communication. Parkour’s dangerous stunts resonate, too, Kidder contends, with a neoliberal ideology that is ambivalent about risk. Moreover, as a male-dominated sport, parkour, with its glorification of strength and daring, reflects contemporary Western notions of masculinity. At the same time, Kidder writes, most athletes (known as “traceurs” or “freerunners”) reject a “daredevil” label, preferring a deliberate, reasoned hedging of bets with their own safety—rather than a “pushing the edge” ethos normally associated with extreme sports.

Though he has made only five films in two decades—Strictly Ballroom, William Shakespeare’s Romeo+Juliet, and the Oscar-nominated films Moulin Rouge!, Australia, and The Great Gatsby—Australian writer-director Baz Luhrmann is an internationally known brand name. His Christian name has even entered the English language as a verb, as in “to Baz things up,” meaning “to decorate them with an exuberant flourish.” Celebrated by some, loathed by others, his work is underscored by what has been described as “an aesthetic of artifice” and is notable for both its glittering surfaces and recurring concerns.

In this collection of interviews, Luhrmann discusses his methods and his motives, explaining what has been important to him and his collaborators from the start and how he has been able to maintain an independence from the studios that have backed his films. He also speaks about his other artistic endeavors, including stage productions of La Bohème and A Midsummer Night’s Dream, and his wife and collaborative partner Catherine Martin, who has received two Academy Awards for her work with Luhrmann.

LETTERS LIKE THE DAY
On Reading Georgia O’Keeffe
Jennifer Sinor
Mar 2017 168pp
9780826357830 Paperback £21.50 / €25.00

Georgia O’Keeffe mistrusted words. She claimed colour as her language. Nevertheless, in the course of her long life, the great American painter wrote thousands of letters. Jennifer Sinor’s Letters Like the Day honors O’Keeffe, her modernist landscapes, and, crucially, the value of letter writing. In the painter’s correspondence, we find an intimacy with words that is all her own.

New Perspectives
Brandon Fullam
Mar 2017 277pp, 15 illustrations
9781476668239 Paperback £37.95 / €43.00

When Governor John White sailed for England from Roanoke Island in 1587, he left behind more than 100 men, women and children. They were never seen again by Europeans. For more than four centuries there has remained a mystery. Through an examination of the early accounts, previously unknown or unexamined documents and native Algonquian oral tradition, this book deconstructs the traditional theories.

Anna M. Parkinson
Jan 2017 264pp
9780472036813 Paperback £32.50 / €37.00
Social History, Popular Culture, and Politics in Germany

Dismantles the notion that Germany, in the period following the Second World War, exhibited an “inability to mourn”, arguing that in fact the period experienced a surge of affect. Anna Parkinson examines the emotions explicitly addressed in a variety of German cultural artifacts, while also identifying previously unacknowledged affective structures implicitly at work during the country’s national crisis.

Kristin Kopp
Jan 2017 270pp, 33 b&w illustrations, 5 colour plates
9780472036820 Paperback £37.95 / €43.00
Social History, Popular Culture, and Politics in Germany

In the 19th and early 20th centuries, representations of Poland and the Slavic East cast the region as a primitive, undeveloped, or empty space inhabited by a population destined to remain uncivilized without the aid of external intervention. While conventional definitions locate colonial space overseas, Kristin Kopp argues that it was possible to understand both distant continents and adjacent Eastern Europe as parts of the same global periphery dependent upon Western European civilizing efforts.

Itohan Osayimwese

Jun 2017 352pp, 8 colour, 69 b&w illustrations
9780822945086 Hardback £56.50 / €65.00

Culture Politics & the Built Environment

Considers the effects of colonialism, travel, and globalisation on the development of modern architecture in Germany from the 1850s until the 1930s. This book argues that the rise of a new modern language of architecture within Germany during this period was shaped by the country’s colonial and neo-colonial entanglements.

Looks beyond single-factor interpretations to offer a far more nuanced view of why the Salem witch-hunt spiraled out of control. Rather than assigning blame to a single perpetrator, Ray assembles portraits of several major characters, each of whom had complex motives for accusing his or her neighbors. In this way, he reveals how religious, social, political, and legal factors all played a role in the drama.

Rody L. Johnson
Apr 2017 224pp, 28 b&w illustrations
9780813054377 Hardcover £28.50 / €33.00

Did humans live in Florida during the Ice Age? In 1916, to the shock of the science world, a Florida geologist discovered human remains mixed with the bones of prehistoric animals in a Vero Beach canal and proclaimed that humans had lived in North America since the Ice Age. His claim was snubbed by the top scientists of his day; he was laughed out of the state; and the skull he found - famously known as “Vero Man” - was lost. This book tells the story of Sellards’s exciting find and the controversy it sparked.

In recent years, a long-established view of the Roman Empire during its age of expansion has been called into question by scholars who contend that this model has made Rome appear too much like a modern state. This is especially true in terms of understanding how the Roman government ordered the city geographically. In this innovative, systematic approach, Daniel J. Gargola demonstrates how important the concept of space was to the governance of Rome.

THE EMERGING GOOD IN PLATO’S PHILEBUS

John V. Garner
Jul 2017 192pp
9780268155381 Paperback £37.95 / €43.00

Plato’s Philebus presents a fascinating dialogue between the life of the mind and the life of pleasure. While Socrates decisively prioritises the life of reason, he also shows that certain pleasures contribute to making the good life good. This work argues that the Socratic pleasures of learning emphasise, above all, the importance of being open to change.
Beginning with Sappho in the seventh century B.C. and ending with Hypatia and Egeria in the fifth century A.D., Jane McIntosh Snyder listens carefully to the major women writers of classical Greece and Rome, piecing together the surviving fragments of their works into a coherent analysis that places them in their literary, historical, and intellectual contexts.

Offers an examination of the loss of speech, exile from community, and memory throughout the literary corpus of the Roman poet Ovid. In Metamorphoses, characters are transformed in ways that include losing their power of human speech. In Tristia and Epistulae ex Ponto, Ovid represents himself as also having been transformed, losing his voice. Bartolo A. Natoli provides a unique cross-reading of these works.

In a 1941 Nazi roundup of educated Poles, Stefan Budziaszek - newly graduated from medical school in Krakow - was incarcerated and transferred to the Auschwitz concentration camp. In 1943, Stefan was put in charge of the on-site prisoner hospital. Stefan transformed this facility from just two barracks into a working hospital and outpatient facility.
“Mama, I don’t want to live like this”, pleaded twelve-year-old Estelle Glaser’s older sister as they watched the bodies of friends dangle from the gibbet in the centre of Warsaw’s Apel Platz. Estelle’s memoir, published sixty-four years after their liberation from the concentration camp, is a narrative of fear and hope and resiliency. While it is a harrowing tale, it is also a story of the goodness that still exists in a dark world.

During the 1990s and early 2000s in Europe, more than fifty historical commissions were created to confront, discuss, and document the genocide of the Holocaust and to address some of its unresolved injustices. This book offers the first in-depth account of these commissions, examining the complexities of reckoning with past atrocities and large-scale human rights violations.

The early chroniclers of Britain presented the island as the promised land of the Roman goddess Diana. Later, a new literary concept of the island was promoted: the promised land of the Holy Grail. This book explores the conflict between Goddess and Grail - a rift less about paganism versus Christianity and more about religious literalism versus spiritual imagination.

Explores how the story of Arthur evolved in England in the later Middle Ages, and depicts Arthur as a wilderness figure, the descendant of the northern Romano-British hunter/warrior god. The story of Arthur was popularized by Geoffrey of Monmouth, in his Latin History of the Kings of Britain, and this was translated into Middle English.

Presents multifaceted considerations of the intersection of objects and gender within the cultural contexts of late medieval France and England. Some take a material view of objects, showing buildings, books, and pictures as sites of gender negotiation and resistance and as extensions of women’s bodies. Others reconsider the concept of objectification in the lives of medieval women.
Examines and evaluates the major lines of interpretation of the medieval concepts of natural rights and natural law within the twentieth and early twenty-first centuries and explains how the major historiographical interpretations of ius naturale and lex naturalis have changed. Riccardo Saccenti sheds light on the historical debate and on the medieval roots of modern human rights theories.

Michael Psellos has long been known as a key figure in the history of Byzantine literary and intellectual culture, but his theoretical and critical reflections on literature and art are little known. The aim of this volume is to illustrate an important chapter in the history of Greek literary and art criticism and introduce precisely this aspect of Psellian writing to a wider public.

Proposes that the concept of the enigmatic, latent in a wide range of medieval thinking about literature, can help us better understand in medieval terms much of the era’s most enduring literature, from the riddles of the Anglo-Saxon bishop Aldhelm to the great vernacular works of Dante, Chaucer, Julian of Norwich, and, above all, Langland’s Piers Plowman.

May 2017 256pp 9781682471630 Hardback £30.50 / €35.00

This book is intended to be the remedy to the chaotic and thus far unformed realm of tactical theory. Part one establishes a tactical system meant to replace the Principles of War checklist. Part two builds on part one by exploring concepts with which the tactician must be familiar. Part three examines implications of the presented tactical systems to a variety of other issues in strategic studies.
PATTON’S WAY
A Radical Theory of War
James Kelly Morningstar
Jun 2017 352pp, 22 b&w photos
9781612158791 Hardback £35.50 / €40.00

Presents a unique approach to the legend of General George S. Patton Jr. and his development and application of modern warfare. Rather than a biography, this book argues that popular representations of Patton are built on misconceptions and incomplete understandings about his approach to battle.

SCHNELLBOOTE
A Complete Operational History
Lawrence Paterson
Sep 2016 288pp
9781591148289 Hardback £37.50 / €44.00

The Kriegsmarine’s Schnellboote—fast attack boats or E-boats to the Allies—were the primary German naval attack units in coastal waters throughout the Second World War. To date, there has been no comprehensive operational history of the Schnellboote. However, due to the relatively small number of units, author Lawrence Paterson is able to recount the duties, fates, and careers of each individual craft in this new book.

Edited by David C. Evans
Feb 2017 592pp, 58 b&w photos, 19 maps
9781591146884 Paperback £35.50 / €40.00

First published in 1986 and lauded by historians and World War II buffs eager for the Japanese viewpoint, this collection of essays makes significant contributions to the field of World War II literature. In it, top-ranking Japanese officers offer their personal perspectives of the Pacific War. This second edition adds five articles to the original twelve.

THE OFFICIAL CHRONOLOGY OF THE U.S. NAVY IN WORLD WAR II
Robert Cressman
Oct 2016 400pp, 91 b&w photos, 1 line drawing
9781591146384 Paperback £35.50 / €40.00

Ten years after the close of World War II, the US Navy published a chronology of its operations in the war. Long out of print, the work focused on what were then defined as critical and decisive events. This greatly expanded and updated study goes far beyond the original work, drawing on information from more than forty additional years of historical research and writing.

THE U.S. NAVY AGAINST THE AXIS
Surface Combat, 1941-1945
Vincent P. O’Hara
Feb 2017 400pp
9781682471852 Paperback £25.50 / €29.00

Tells the story of the US Navy’s surface fleet in World War II with an emphasis on ship-to-ship combat. It advances the thesis that the fleet’s role in America’s ultimate victory was more crucial than commonly realized and that it holds many lessons for today’s navy and the US as a whole.

THE VICTORY AT SEA
William Sowden Sims
Nov 2016 482pp
9781682471999 Paperback £25.50 / €29.00

In 1921 Rear Admiral William Sowden Sims won the Pulitzer prize in history for Victory at Sea. The commander of US naval forces operating in European waters during the WWI, Sims offers an authoritative account of the US Navy’s role in the war.

Images of War

The Japanese invaded the Solomon Islands in May 1942 and in July began construction of a large airfield on Guadalcanal. In February 1943, after an epic six-month struggle, they were expelled from the island and it became a staging base for US Admiral William F. Halsey and his South Pacific force. As explained in this fascinating book, the campaign was eventually successful but only after some of the bitterest fighting of World War II.

WOOLF
U-boat Commanders in World War II
Jordan Vause
Feb 2017 272pp
9781591145707 Paperback £20.50 / €23.00

Drawing on a wealth of primary documents and, when possible, interviews or correspondence with the U-boat commanders themselves, Jordan Vause follows individual officers from their youths and early naval training through their wartime experiences and into the often bitter peace that followed. Particularly valuable is the author’s use of new information in his portrayal of Karl Doenitz and other prominent commanders.

THE STIGMA OF SURRENDER
German Prisoners, British Captors, and Manhood in the Great War and Beyond
Brian K. Feltman
Aug 2016 280pp, 14 halftones
9781469635310 Paperback £32.50 / €37.00

Approximately 9 million soldiers fell into enemy hands from 1914 to 1918, but historians have only recently begun to recognize the prisoner of war’s significance to the history of the Great War. Examining the experiences of the approximately 130,000 German prisoners held in the UK during World War I, historian Brian K. Feltman brings wartime captivity back into focus.

Nels Pearson
May 2017 192pp, 4 b&w photos
9780813054636 Paperback £22.95 / €26.00

Looking at the writing of three significant Irish expatriates, Nels Pearson challenges conventional critical trends that view their work as either affirming Irish anti-colonial sentiment or embracing international identity. In reality, he argues, these writers constantly work back and forth between a sense of national belonging that remains incomplete and ideas of human universality tied to their new global environments.

Steeped in history, this book locates a heightened reality that goes beyond representation to bring Faulkner’s novels, stories, and drawings into visible form through Whistler, Beardsley, Gorky, and de Kooning. Visionary and revisionist, Waid has painted the proverbial big picture, changing the fundamental way that both the making of modernism and the avant-garde will be seen.

THE GREAT TOWER OF ELFLAND
The Mythopoeic Worldview of J. R. R. Tolkien, C. S. Lewis, G. K. Chesterton, and George MacDonald
Zachary A. Rhone
Foreword by Colin Duriez
May 2017 184pp
9781606353295 Hardback £48.50 / €66.00

This text overturns the misapplication of a divided worldview of J. R. R. Tolkien and C. S. Lewis, and their forerunners, G.K. Chesterton and George MacDonald. Analysing their literary, scholarly, and interpersonal texts, this book clarifies the unities of their thinking through literature and language, humanism, philosophy of the personal journey, philosophy of history, and Christian mythopoeia.

THE IRISH VAMPIRE
From Folklore to the Imaginations of Charles Robert Maturin, Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu and Bram Stoker
Sharon M. Gallagher
Jan 2017 277pp
9781476665801 Paperback £37.95 / €43.00

While their works have separately been the subjects of many thorough critical studies, this may be the first time that a text groups Charles Robert Maturin, Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu, and Bram Stoker together to trace the progression of the nineteenth century literary vampire. It includes biographical and historical elements, and argues that the modern vampire has its roots in Irish nineteenth century literature.

| June 2017 | 234pp | 9781496813046 | Paperback | £30.50 / €35.00 |

Caribbean Studies Series

This collection challenges a long sacrosanct paradigm. Since the establishment of Caribbean literary studies, scholars have exalted an elite cohort of novelists based in postwar London. However, their canonization has obscured the diversity of postwar Caribbean writers. These essays make clear that in the 1950s there was already a wide spectrum of West Indian men and women who were writing and publishing.

JOHN LE CARRÉ’S POST-COLD WAR FICTION
Robert Lance Snyder

| January 2017 | 208pp | 9780826220998 | Hardback | £53.95 / €62.00 |

This book challenges distinctions between “popular” and “serious” literature by recognising le Carré as one of the most significant ethicists in contemporary fiction, contributing to an overdue reassessment of his literary stature. Le Carré’s ten post–Cold War novels constitute a distinctive subset of his espionage fiction in their response to the momentous changes in geopolitics that began in the 1990s. Through a close reading of these novels, Snyder traces how — amid the “War on Terror” and transnationalism — le Carré weighs what is at stake in this conflict of deeply invested ideologies.

ON THE GRAPHIC NOVEL
Santiago García
Translated by Bruce Campbell
Apr 2017 254pp
9781496813183 Paperback £30.50 / €35.00

A noted comics artist himself, Santiago García follows the history of the graphic novel from early nineteenth-century European sequential art, through the development of newspaper strips in the US, to the development of the twentieth-century comic book. He considers the aesthetic and entrepreneurial innovations that established the conditions for the rise of the graphic novel all over the world.

THE COMICS OF CHARLES SCHULZ
The Good Grief of Modern Life
Edited by Jared Gardner & Ian Gordon
Aug 2017 192pp
9781496812896 Hardback £65.50 / €75.00
Critical Approaches to Comics Artists Series

Collects new essays on the work of the creator of the immensely popular Peanuts comic strip. Despite Schulz’s celebrity, few scholarly books on his work and career have been published. This collection serves as a foundation for future study not only of Charles Schulz (1922-2000) but, more broadly, of the understudied medium of newspaper comics.

Latino and Latin American Profiles

Focuses on the work of Gilbert and Jaime Hernandez, Mexican-American brothers whose graphic novels are highly influential. Gracia argues that Los Bros Hernandez have worked to create a new American graphic storytelling that, while still in touch with mainstream genres, provides a transgressive alternative from an aesthetic, gender, and ethnic perspective.

Toy to Television to the Big Screen
Brian C. Baer
Apr 2017 277pp
9781476669900 Paperback £21.95 / €25.00

Elaborate cinematic universes and sophisticated marketing tie-ins are commonplace in entertainment today. It’s easy to forget that the transmedia trend began in 1982 with a barbarian action figure. He-man and the other characters in Matell’s popular Masters of the Universe toy line quickly found their way into comic books, video games, multiple television series and a Hollywood film.

Edited by Silver Wai-ming Lee & Micky Lee
Jul 2017 298pp
9781496812841 Hardback £60.50 / €69.00
Conversations with Filmmakers Series

Fans and critics alike perceive Wong Kar-wai as an enigma. His dark glasses, his nonlinear narrations, and his high expectations for actors all contribute to the idea that he only makes art for a few high-brow critics. However, Wong’s interviews show this Hong Kong auteur is candid about the art of filmmaking, even surprising his interlocutors by suggesting his films are commercial and made for a popular audience.

Edited by John F. Finamore & Sarah Klitenic Wear

Jun 2017 376pp
9780996930536 Hardback £70.50 / €80.00

This collection of essays surveys a wide range of methods of Platonic interpretation, ranging from the dialogues themselves, to Middle and Neoplatonic interpretations of Plato’s writings, to modern uses of Platonism. As a philosophical movement, Platonism is broadly conceived, covering schools and philosophers beginning with Plato and his immediate followers and extending through contemporary philosophers.

HELL AND THE MERCY OF GOD

Adrian J. Reimers

Jul 2017 277pp
9780813229409 Paperback £37.95 / €43.00

Reimers draws on relevant sources from Aristotle to Aquinas, from Dante to Tolkien, from Wagner to John Paul II, along with Billie Holliday, The Godfather, and the music of George Gershwin. He presents a philosophical theology, grounded in Scripture, of the nature of goodness and evil, exploring various types of pain, the seven capital sins, the resurrection of the body, the meaning of mammon, the core meaning of idolatry, the psychology of Satan and those who choose his path, and the moral responsibility of the human person.

THE LOGIC OF BEING
Realism, Truth, and Time
Paul Livingston
Jul 2017 280pp
9780810135192 Paperback £37.95 / €43.00

Examines the relationship of truth and time from a perspective that draws on Martin Heidegger’s inquiry into the question of being, as well as twentieth-century analytic philosophy of language and logic. Paul Livingston extends his concept of “metaformal realism” into a “temporal realism” that accounts for the reality of temporal change and becoming while also preserving realism about logic and truth.

APOCALYPSE DEFERRED
Girard and Japan
Edited by Jeremiah L. Alberg
Jun 2017 294pp
9780268100182 Hardback £56.50 / €65.00

The thought of René Girard on violence, sacrifice, and mimetic theory has exerted a strong influence on Japanese scholars. In this collection of essays, originating from a Tokyo conference on violence and religion, scholars call on Girardinian ideas to address apocalyptic events that have marked Japan’s recent history as well as other aspects of, primarily, Japanese literature and culture.

FOLLOWING KOHLBERG
Liberalism and the Practice of Democratic Community
Donald R.C. Reed
Oct 2016 304pp
9780268159719 Paperback £39.95 / €46.00
Revisions, Vol. 15

Most moral philosophers and psychologists have missed something crucial in the work of Lawrence Kohlberg (1927-87), best known for his theory of stages of moral development. In this work, Donald R.C. Reed clearly illustrates how the Kohlbergian project has much to offer the crucial debate about moral psychology and how to revivify our society’s jaded sense of fairness and responsibility.

FREEDOM AND TRADITION IN HEGEL
Reconsidering Anthropology, Ethics, and Religion
Thomas A Lewis
Oct 2016 272pp
9780268159719 Paperback £39.95 / €46.00

Stands at the intersection of three vital currents in contemporary ethics: debates over philosophical anthropology and its significance for ethics, reevaluations of tradition and modernity, and a resurgence of interest in Hegel. Thomas A. Lewis engages these three streams of thought in light of Hegel’s recently published Vorlesungen über die Philosophie des Geistes.

GOD AT THE CROSSROADS OF WORLDVIEWS
Toward a Different Debate About the Existence of God
Paul Seungoh Chung
Sep 2016 304pp
9780268100568 Hardback £56.50 / €65.00

Debates about the existence of God persist but remain at an impasse between opposing answers. This work reframes the debate from a new perspective, characterising the way these positions have been defined and defended not as wrong, per se, but rather as odd or awkward.
RECOVERING NATURE

Essays in Natural Philosophy, Ethics, and Metaphysics in Honor of Ralph McInerny
Edited by John P. O’Callaghan & Thomas S. Hibbs
Oct 2016 280pp
9780268160708 Paperback £39.95 / €46.00

The recovery of nature has been a unifying and enduring aim of the writings of Ralph McInerny. In his persistent, clear, and creative defenses of natural theology and natural law, McInerny has appealed to nature to establish a dialogue between theists and non-theists, to contribute to the moral and political renewal of American culture, and to provide some of the philosophical foundations for Catholic theology.

REVERENCE FOR THE RELATIONS OF LIFE

Re-imagine Pragmatism via Josiah Royce’s Interactions with Peirce, James, and Dewey
Frank M. Oppenheim
Dec 2016 520pp
9780268159863 Paperback £50.95 / €59.00

Josiah Royce and William James lived in Cambridge, Massachusetts, on Irving Street, just two doors apart, while Charles Peirce grew up just a few blocks away. In nearby Vermont, John Dewey was born and educated. By tracing the interactions of Royce (1855-1916) with James, Peirce, and Dewey, Oppenheim hopes to “re-imagine pragmatism” in a way that will highlight Royce’s key insights.

THE PERSON AND THE COMMON GOOD

Jacques Maritain
Translated by John J. Fitzgerald
Dec 2016 108pp
9780268160081 Hardback £56.50 / €65.00

Originally published in 1947, this is Jacques Maritain’s clearest and most sustained treatment of the person. He asks whether the person is simply the self and nothing more. Presenting with moving insight the relations between man, as a person and as an individual, and the society of which he is a part, Maritain’s treatment of a lasting topic speaks to this generation as well as those to come.

PLOTINUS ENNEAD II.9: AGAINST THE Gnostics

Translation, with an Introduction, and Commentary
Sebastian Gertz
Dec 2016 338pp
9781939072377 Paperback £45.95 / €53.00

The Enneads of Plotinus

How was the universe created, and what is our place within it? These are the questions at the heart of Against the Gnostics. For the Gnostics, the universe came into being as a result of the soul’s fall from intelligible reality - it is the evil outcome of a botched creation. Plotinus challenges this, and insists that the soul’s creation of the world is the necessary consequence of its contemplation of the ideal forms.

Rescher discusses various issues pertaining to the production and reception of reports.

FREE WILL AND THE HUMAN SCIENCES IN BRITAIN, 1870-1910
Roger Smith
Dec 2016 288pp
9780822964766 Paperback £39.50 / €46.00
Science & Culture in the Nineteenth Century

From the late nineteenth century onwards religion gave way to science as the dominant force in society. This led to a questioning of the principle of free will. Smith takes an in-depth look at the problem of free will through the prism of different disciplines. His subtly nuanced navigation through these arguments has much to contribute to our understanding of Victorian and Edwardian science and culture.

CALLING THE SHOTS
The President, Executive Orders, and Public Policy
Daniel P. Gitterman
Nov 2016 232pp
9780815730637 Paperback £13.50 / €15.00

The US Constitution lays out three hypothetically equal branches of government - the executive, the legislative, and the judicial - but over the years, the president, as head of the executive branch, has emerged as the usually dominant political and administrative force at the federal level. In fact, Daniel Gitterman tells us, the president effectively is the CEO of an enormous federal bureaucracy.

This book for the first time makes it clear that Xi Jinping’s historical missions are to complete the three leading ideals of Chinese governance - the governance of the ruling party, nation and the global community; to avoid two pitfalls - the middle-income trap and Thucydides’ Trap; and to achieve a big leap - to jump over from the developing to developed countries and achieve the great renaissance of the Chinese nation.

The American ability to inspire - which we call exceptionalism - is not automatic. It takes continued efforts to be realized in a changing world. In this book, scholars at the Hoover Institution offer a series of accessible policy ideas for civic, economic, and security architecture that would shore up the long-term foundations of American strengths.

George P. Shultz recounts a lifetime of experiences in government, business, and academia and describes how those experiences have shaped the way he thinks. Far more than a simple biography, Learning from Experience makes a unique contribution to political, social, and economic thought, offering the author’s reflections on experiences that have influenced his worldview.

In this fascinating new book, Paul Kengor tells the untold story of the partnership between Pope John Paul II and President Ronald Reagan and how together they changed the course of world history. Kengor shows that the bonds between the pope and the president ran deeper than anyone has suspected, and that these bonds drove them to confront what they saw as the great evil of the twentieth century: Soviet communism.

Emunot: Jewish Philosophy and Kabbalah

How did medieval Jewish scholars, from Saadia Gaon to Rabbi Isaac Abarbanel, imagine a world that has experienced salvation? Is the Messianic reality identical to our current world, or is it a new world entirely? This work explores how a rationalist can remain calm in light of the seductive promises of the various apocalyptic teachings of Antiquity regarding the Messianic world.

Emunot: Jewish Philosophy and Kabbalah

Deals with the meaning of identity in general and Jewish identity in particular. Different notions of Jewish identity have been formulated in the history of Jewish thought. This book shows that the term Jewish identity denotes a field covering a broad range of options for Jewish existence. Common to all is the affirmation of Jewish identity, but not necessarily one single approach as the sole possible course of Jewish life.

Essays in the Renewal of Moral Theology
John S. Grabowski
June 2017 300pp 9781932589801 Paperback £43.50 / €49.00

In calling for a renewal of moral theology, the Second Vatican Council also charted a course for the Church’s future. Important figures of this postconciliar renewal—such as Alasdair MacIntyre, Servais Pinckaers, OP, Benedict XVI, and particularly John Paul II—figure prominently in this volume. Drawing on these outstanding thinkers, these essays seek to follow the course of renewal illumined by the Council.

War Culture

Addresses a paradox of twenty-first century American warfare. The contemporary visual American experience of war is ubiquitous, and yet war is simultaneously invisible or absent; we lack a lived sense that “America” is at war. This paradox of in/visibility concerns the gap between the experiences of war zones and the visual, mediated experience of war in public, popular culture.

Truths, Myths, and Lies About Public Debt

Carlo Cottarelli

Jun 2017 180pp
9780815730675 Hardback £18.95 / €23.00

Famed international economist Carlo Cottarelli explains public debt—the IOUs governments issue to keep the machinery of government running. Where does public debt originate? Why is it so difficult to reduce? Why is it so important for a nation’s economy? Can nations live with debt, and how? Is it possible to eliminate public debt?

Drawing on his roles as director of fiscal affairs and executive director for Italy at the International Monetary Fund, and as commissioner of public spending reform in Italy, Cottarelli brings a wealth of direct experience, especially of the crises generated by public debt, including in Italy and Greece, and their solutions: from the orthodox (austerity) to the more combative (“I won’t pay you”), to more realistic, long term, growth-focused solutions.

Cottarelli provides an essential, bias-free guide to public debt. He describes the different forms of debt in countries across the globe and illustrates what experts know and do not know about it, its perils and its solutions. A must-read to understand one or the main issues in today’s global economy.

THE EVOLUTION OF SCIENTIFIC KNOWLEDGE

From Certainty to Uncertainty

Edward R. Dougherty

Feb 2017 152pp
9781510607354 Paperback £17.95 / €20.00

This book aims to provide scientists and engineers, and those interested in scientific issues, with a concise account of how the nature of scientific knowledge evolved from antiquity to a seemingly final form in the Twentieth Century that now strongly limits the knowledge that people would like to gain in the Twenty-first Century. Some might think that such issues are only of interest to specialists in epistemology (the theory of knowledge); however, today’s major scientific and engineering problems—in biology, medicine, environmental science, etc.—involve enormous complexity, and it is precisely this complexity that runs up against the limits of what is scientifically knowable. To understand the issue, one must appreciate the radical break with antiquity that occurred with the birth of modern science in the Seventeenth Century, the problems of knowledge and truth engendered by modern science, and the evolution of scientific thinking through the Twentieth Century.

Jun 2017 655pp
9781470428495 Hardback £10.00 / €13.50

Pure and Applied Undergraduate Texts, Vol. 27

This text – based on the author’s popular courses at Pomona College – provides a readable, student-friendly, and somewhat sophisticated introduction to abstract algebra. It is aimed at sophomore or junior undergraduates who are seeing the material for the first time. In addition to the usual definitions and theorems, there is ample discussion to help students build intuition and learn how to think about the abstract concepts.

Thomas A. Ivey & Joseph M. Landsberg

Jan 2017 455pp
9781470409899 Hardback £76.50 / €87.00

Graduate Studies in Mathematics, Vol. 175

Two central aspects of Cartan's approach to differential geometry are the theory of exterior differential systems (EDS) and the method of moving frames. This book presents thorough and modern treatments of both subjects, including their applications to both classic and contemporary problems in geometry.

DIFFERENTIAL GALOIS THEORY THROUGH RIEMANN-HILBERT CORRESPONDENCE

An Elementary Introduction
Jacques Sauloy

Jan 2017 279pp
9781470430955 Hardback £90.50 / €105.00

Graduate Studies in Mathematics, Vol. 177

Offers a hands-on transcendental approach to differential Galois theory, based on the Riemann-Hilbert correspondence. Along the way, it provides a smooth, down-to-earth introduction to algebraic geometry, category theory and tannakian duality. A large variety of examples, exercises, and theoretical constructions offers an accessible entry into this exciting area.

GAME THEORY

A Playful Introduction
Matt DeVos & Deborah A. Kent

Jan 2017 360pp
9781470422103 Paperback £49.95 / €57.00

Student Mathematical Library, Vol. 80

Offers a gentle introduction to the mathematics of both sides of game theory: combinatorial and classical. The combination allows for a dynamic and rich tour of the subject united by a common theme of strategic reasoning. With ample material and limited dependencies between the chapters, the book is adaptable to a variety of situations and a range of audiences.

GAME THEORY, ALIVE

Anna R. Karlin & Yuval Peres

Jun 2017 396pp
9781470419820 Hardback £76.50 / €87.00

Presents a rigorous introduction to the mathematics of game theory without losing sight of the joy of the subject. This is done by focusing on theoretical highlights (e.g., at least six Nobel Prize winning results are developed from scratch) and by presenting exciting connections of game theory to other fields such as computer science (algorithmic game theory), economics (auctions and matching markets), social choice (voting theory), biology (signaling and evolutionary stability), and learning theory.
IT'S ABOUT TIME
Elementary Mathematical Aspects of Relativity
Roger Cooke
Jun 2017 410pp
9781470430863 Paperback £76.50 / €87.00

This book has three main goals. First, it explores a selection of topics from the early period of the theory of relativity, focusing on particular aspects that are interesting or unusual. Second, it provides an exposition of the differential geometry needed to understand these topics on a level that is intended to be accessible to those with just two years of university-level mathematics as background. Third, it reflects on the historical development of the subject and its significance for our understanding of what reality is and how we can know about the physical universe.

LARGE DEVIATIONS
S.R.S. Varadhan
Dec 2016 104pp
9780821848863 Paperback £36.95 / €42.00

Courant Lecture Notes, Vol. 27

The theory of large deviations deals with rates at which probabilities of certain events decay as a natural parameter in the problem varies. This book focuses on three concrete sets of examples: diffusions with small noise and the exit problem; large time behaviour of Markov processes and their connection to the Feynman-Kac formula; and interacting particle systems, their scaling limits, and large deviations from their expected limits.

LECTURES ON CHEVALLEY GROUPS
Robert Steinberg
Jan 2017 157pp
9781470431051 Paperback £35.95 / €41.00

University Lecture Series, Vol. 66

Robert Steinberg’s Lectures on Chevalley Groups were delivered and written during the author’s sabbatical visit to Yale University in the 1967-1968 academic year. The work presents the status of the theory of Chevalley groups as it was in the mid-1960s. This material was instrumental in many areas of mathematics.

ORDERED GROUPS AND TOPOLOGY
Adam Clay & Dale Rolfsen
Dec 2016 154pp
9781470431068 Paperback £80.50 / €92.00

Graduate Studies in Mathematics, Vol. 176

Deals with the connections between topology and ordered groups. It begins with a self-contained introduction to orderable groups and from there explores the interactions between orderability and objects in low-dimensional topology. The book also addresses recent applications of orderability in the studies of codimension-one foliations and Heegaard-Floer homology.

PROOF OF THE 1-FACTORIZATION AND HAMILTON DECOMPOSITION CONJECTURES
Bela Csaba et al
Oct 2016 164pp
9781470430253 Paperback £91.50 / €105.00

Memoirs of the American Mathematical Society, Vol. 244, No. 1154

In this paper the authors prove the following results for all sufficiently large n: [1-factorization conjecture] Suppose that n is even and $D \geq n/4 - 1$, $n/4 \leq 1$; [Hamilton decomposition conjecture] Suppose that $D \geq n/2$; [Optimal packings of Hamilton cycles] Suppose that G is a graph on n vertices with minimum degree $\geq n/2$.

TENSOR CATEGORIES
Pavel Etingof et al
Oct 2016 344pp
9781470434109 Paperback £66.50 / €76.00

Mathematical Surveys and Monographs, Vol. 205

Is there a vector space whose dimension is the golden ratio? Of course not - the golden ratio is not an integer! But this can happen for generalizations of vector spaces - objects of a tensor category. The theory of tensor categories is a relatively new field of mathematics that generalizes the theory of group representations. This book gives a systematic introduction to this theory and a review of its applications.

An Introduction
Jean-Pierre Serre
Dec 2016 190pp
9781571463272 Hardback £89.50 / €99.00

Finite group theory is a topic remarkable for the simplicity of its statements and the difficulty of their proofs. It is used in an essential way in several branches of mathematics – for instance, in number theory. This book is an introduction to the subject, written both for beginners and for mathematicians at large. There are ten chapters: Preliminaries, Sylow theory, Solvable groups and nilpotent groups, Group extensions, Hall subgroups, Frobenius groups, Transfer, Characters, Finite subgroups of GLn, and Small groups.

9781623495480 Paperback £21.50 / €25.00
Carolyn and Ernest Fay Series in Analytical Psychology, Vol. 14

Wiener makes a central distinction between working “in” the transference and working “with” the transference, advocating a flexible approach that takes account of the different kinds of attachment patients can make to their therapists. She develops her own concept of the transference matrix, a model that honours one of Jung’s core beliefs in the development of a symbolic capacity as an essential task of psychotherapy, but at the same time acknowledges that a capacity to symbolize can only emerge through relationship.

The Story of the Most Fascinating Quantum Fractal
Indubala I Satija

Aug 2016 350pp
9781681740539 Paperback £50.50 / €58.00

Tells the story of the Hofstadter butterfly, a beautiful and fascinating graph lying at the heart of the quantum theory of matter. The butterfly came out of a simple-sounding question: What happens if you immerse a crystal in a magnetic field? What energies can the electrons take on? Physicists struggled to answer this question, until Douglas Hofstadter, in 1974, discovered that the answer was a graph consisting of nothing but copies of itself nested down infinitely many times.
